Proposed Transaction and Shareholder Proposals

Reinsurance Group of America, Incorporated

RGA

The security of experience. The power of innovation.

Proposal One: The Transaction

- Recapitalization of RGA common stock into two classes, both to be listed on the NYSE
 - RGA class A common
 - Each outstanding share of existing common reclassified into one share of class A common stock
 - Entitled to elect up to 20% of RGA directors
 - RGA class B common
 - MetLife exchanges each of its shares of class A (other than 3 million shares) for one share of class B common
 - Entitled to elect at least 80% of RGA directors
 - Class A common and class B common entitled to receive the same per share consideration in any reorganization or in any merger or consolidation of RGA with another company (except as may be permitted with respect to their existing rights to elect directors)
 - Class B common subject to significant holder voting limitation

Proposal One: The Transaction (cont'd)

- Exchange offer in which MetLife offers to acquire MetLife common stock in exchange for all RGA class B common stock
 - Priced at a 10% discount to the per-share value of RGA common stock to MetLife stockholders, subject to a limit of 1.3071 shares of class B common stock per share of MetLife common
 - Conditioned on sufficient tenders to result in the distribution of at least 90% of the class B shares
 - MetLife will dispose of any unexchanged class B stock in one or more subsequent debt exchanges or split-offs
- Transaction designed with the intention for the divestiture to be tax-free to MetLife and its stockholders
- Unanimously recommended by special committee of RGA's Board composed entirely of directors unaffiliated with MetLife

Key Points for Consideration:

- Expected to eliminate overhang and increase liquidity and public float of the market for RGA common stock
- Expected to allow RGA to pursue future business initiatives free from constraint of a controlling corporate shareholder whose policies may conflict, as MetLife and RGA's businesses evolve over time and their strategies diverge
- Expected to permit RGA shareholders to share in any premium associated with any subsequent change in control of RGA
- Increased potential for IRS Section 382 "ownership change" that could limit ability to utilize NOLs and other tax attributes
- Potential restrictions on RGA engaging in certain transactions which could jeopardize the tax-free status of the divestiture
- See pages 15-17 and 54-59 of RGA's proxy statement/prospectus dated August 4, 2008 for additional discussion of benefits and disadvantages of the divestiture to RGA and its shareholders and RGA's reasons for the Recapitalization

Proposal Two: Class B Significant Holder Voting Limitation

- Designed to promote equal treatment of both classes of stock
- Holders of more than 15% of class B common stock are restricted to 15% of voting power for election of class B directors
 - Exception: if holder has more than 15% of class A common stock, the holder can vote class B common stock to the extent the holder has an equivalent or greater percentage of class A common stock
- In other respects, rights of holders of class A and class B common will be identical, and will vote together as a single class, except that:
 - Class A common can elect no more than 20% of the directors
 - Class B common can elect at least 80% of the directors
 - There will be a separate vote by class on any proposal to convert class B common into class A common, as described in Proposal Four
 - Missouri law provides separate class voting rights on certain amendments to the articles of incorporation, including those that adversely affect the rights of holders of a particular class
- Holders of class A and class B common will be entitled to receive the same per share consideration in any reorganization or in any merger or consolidation of RGA with another company (except as may be permitted with respect to their existing rights to elect directors)

Proposal Three: Acquisition Restrictions

- Intended to protect shareholder value by attempting to protect against a limitation on use of NOLs and other tax attributes, subject to enforceability considerations
- Prohibits and invalidates any direct or indirect sale or transfer (broadly defined) to any person or group (as defined in the Internal Revenue Code) who owns, or would own, 5% or more (by value) of RGA stock
- Limited duration: 36 months and one day after completion of the recapitalization
- Scope intended to be narrowly tailored:
 - Examples of exclusions include: shares acquired in the divestiture; any transaction directly with RGA; any tender or exchange offer meeting certain fairness criteria; and transactions approved in advance by the RGA board of directors

Proposal Four: Potential Conversion of Class B Common Stock Following Divestiture

- Articles of incorporation would contemplate possible conversion of all stock into a single class of common stock on a one-for-one basis
- Would only take place if:
 - RGA board of directors determines to submit such proposal to RGA shareholders; and
 - A majority of each class of RGA common stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the meeting approve the proposal
- No binding commitment by RGA board to, and no assurance RGA board will, consider proposing a conversion. If submitted, no assurance that the proposal would be approved.

Proposal Five: Section 382 Rights Plan Proposal

- Intended to protect shareholder value by attempting to protect against a limitation on use of NOLs and other tax attributes
- Rights become exercisable when, among other things, any person or group (other than a grandfathered or exempted person) becomes a 5% shareholder (as defined in the Internal Revenue Code), or a grandfathered or exempted person acquires more shares
- Limited duration: 36 months and one day after completion of the recapitalization
- Scope intended to be narrowly tailored:
 - Examples of exclusions include: shares acquired in the divestiture; and acquisitions approved in advance by the RGA board of directors
